Corporate template supports full width configurations for use with galleries or forums, make sure you do not publish any modules in left or right column and the Â?component will fill the entire width.